

Jameson Lynn Lindskog

May 25, 1987 - Mar. 29, 2011

United States Army Specialist Jameson "Doc" Lynn Lindskog, 23, of Pleasanton, California, freely gave of his life, felled by small arms fire, Tuesday, 29 March 2011, while giving medical treatment to his soldiers when enemy combatants attacked his unit Afghanistan's Konar Province near Pakistan. Jameson was assigned to Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 2nd Battalion, 327

Infantry "No Slack", 1st Brigade Combat Team, 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault), the Screaming Eagles

Jameson will be remembered for his deep and caring commitment to his family and those he loved, his kindness and sensitivity towards animals, and his deeply rooted sense of right and wrong. Born May 25, 1987 in San Mateo, California to Donna Marie Walker and Curtis Lynn Lindskog, Jameson graduated from Orion Academy in Moraga in 2006, and then attended NHI to become a Certified Massage Therapist. Shortly thereafter, he enlisted in the U.S. Army and became a Certified Emergency Medical Technician for the 2nd Battalion, 327th Infantry Regiment, 1st Brigade Combat Team, 101st Airborne Division, in Ft. Campbell, Kentucky. Jameson is survived by his siblings Ken Nektani and Candace Khattab, his parents, Donna and Matthew Walker of Pleasanton, CA and Jo and Curtis Lindskog of Livermore, CA, as well as numerous other family members, all of which he held very dear.
